“ *Carol Taylor-McIntosh was a woman of beauty, smart, intelligent, resilient and a free-spirit. Few people understood her can do attitude and creativity. Our live styles contrast yet we were friends since childhood and were reliable for one another when others turn their backs on us. I remember Carol driving from Durham, North Carolina to Hampton, Georgia on an expired license to help assist and be a receptionist at my office Cabell Dental Group when my employees called out sick and I had a full schedule. Carol was awesome. She then drove back to NC in time for her regular job at the hotel. Carol was a risk taker especially if it meant helping others. I am glad to have known Carol. We were different in many ways especially problem solving. However, in our last conversations I noticed that Carol alluded to this might be our last time to talk. March 1st she was preparing for an evening out and shared a picture of the beautiful dress that she ordered on line that she hoped would fit. I was glad to know that she had an enjoyable time and was able to celebrate her last birthday in a peaceful way. It is unfortunate that I am just now finding out that Carol died. However, I am grateful that we were always honest and respectful of one another, knew where we stood and able to pickup.
Rest In Peace my sister.
With Loving Memories,
