“ Palmer was a co-worker and through work became a dear friend that I will cherish in my heart forever. His kindness, generosity and God-seeking heart impacted so many lives. He loved his family so very much and dedicated so much of himself to them. I hope they all know how highly he spoke of them and how dear they were to him.

Palmer's work, friendship and impact in the world will be greatly missed. May his memory and the hope we have in Christ bring peace and strength beyond all understanding.

“ Palmer was a great coworker, but an even better person and friend. my fondest memory was picking him up at the St. Louis airport and he didn't know where he was and we just went around in circles until he finally wandered outside and we saw him! We had a great laugh over that one! He was one of a kind and we'll surely miss him at work!

“ In Loving Memory of Palmer

Palmer was more than a coworker—he was my confidant and a true friend. He was someone I could trust with the hard conversations, the honest feelings, and the moments when I needed to feel heard. His steady presence meant more to me than he probably ever knew.

He loved deeply—his family, his friends, and even his little dog. You could see it in the way he carried himself, the way he showed up for others without needing attention or praise. He was humble, God-fearing, and honest to the core. I remember him once saying that during difficult times, he would reach for God. That quiet strength touched more people than he could ever imagine.

When I learned of his passing, I couldn't help but wonder why the world didn't stop for a moment—why it didn't pause to acknowledge such a good man leaving us. The silence felt too ordinary for someone like Palmer.

He is deeply missed, and he always will be. But those of us who knew him carry him in our hearts, and that's something not even time can take away.

*With love and sympathy,
Joy*
